

'The Sorcerer' works wonders at Handcross

Handcross Amateur Dramatic Society's second production was an outstanding success, with the Village Hall filled to capacity for each of the two performances.

The Society, which was formed only last year, undertook the difficult task of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Sorcerer" which, produced by Bobby Loder, met with an encouraging response.

Nick Arnold played a popular Sorcerer, and Mark Irvine gave a marvellous performance as Alexis. The majority of the cast were from the village.

The orchestra, under the direction of Tim Arnold, consisted of fellow musicians from Surrey University, and the pianist was Miss Janet Dick, a graduate from Guildhall.

The society is now considering its third production, a Christmas show.
